Employees at every level of the organization and in every location the Company does business are expected to bring a strong personal commitment to doing business ethically and in accordance with Oracle's Global Anti-Corruption Policy and Business Courtesy Guidelines and the law.

10. Future Developments.

A rapid evolution of technologies, rise of consumer forces and the increasing scope and speed of regulations is driving a fundamental transformation in the financial services industry.

Financial institutions are investing in newer technologies to create insightful and context aware solutions for the digitally savvy customers. Institutions are deploying analytical tools that deliver insights in customer behavior, combined with a powerful digital engagement platform, to gain an edge over the competition. Fin Techs offering niche solutions are becoming an important partner in banks' strategies.

Regulatory compliance is a major focus area for the financial institutions and requires extensive usage of big data and data analytics to effectively meet evolving compliance requirements.

Increasing complexity of the markets has changed the banking needs of corporates. Corporate customers need innovation in the areas of credit, liquidity, cash management, trade finance and payments. Banks are in need of solutions that improve efficiency, centralize processing, provide real-time data, and reduce operating costs.

Payments is another field where speed of innovation is creating new opportunities in the areas of newer channels, reduced cost of transaction, and speed and reliability of the service.

The company's products and solutions are designed to help financial institutions drive transformation initiatives, harness the potential of disruptive technologies and successfully manage regulatory demands.

11. Other information

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Shareholders of Oracle Financial Services Software S.A

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Oracle Financial Services Software S.A (the Company), which comprise the statement of financial position as of March 31, 2019, the income statement and the statement of changes in equity for the year then ended and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly in all material respects the financial position of Oracle Financial Services Software S.A as at March 31, 2019 and its financial performance and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Greek Accounting Standards under L.4308/2014.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs), as incorporated in Greek Law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the "Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements" section of our report. We remained independent of the Company in accordance with the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants' Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (IESBA Code), as incorporated in Greek Law, together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to the audit of the financial statements in Greece, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the IESBA Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of Matter

We draw your attention to Note 22 to the financial statements, in which the Company describes significant positions and assessments on its tax affairs. Our audit opinion is not qualified in this respect.

Other information

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information includes the Board of Directors Report, for which reference is also made in section "Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements", but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information identified above and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit, or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard, except for any references relating to the Board of Directors Report made in section "Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements".

Responsibilities of the Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Greek Accounting Standards under L.4308/2014, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs, as incorporated in Greek Law, will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, as incorporated in Greek Law, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the Company or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the Company. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

Taking into consideration that management is responsible for the preparation of the Board of Directors' Report, according to the provisions of paragraph 5 article 2 of Law 4336/2015 (part B), we report that:

- a) In our opinion the Board of Directors' Report has been prepared [or "has not been prepared"] in accordance with the legal requirements of article 43a, of the Codified Law 2190/1920 and the content of the Board of Directors' Report is consistent with the accompanying financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2019.
- b) Based on the knowledge and understanding concerning Oracle Financial Services Software S.A and its environment, obtained during our audit, we have not identified information included in the Board of Directors' Report that contains a material misstatement, except from the impact of the issue mentioned in paragraph "Emphasis of matter".

The average number of employees for the financial year ended in 31.03.2019 was 53 (31.03.2018: 51). The Company's Financial Statements were approved for publication by the Board of Directors on 20.11.2019 and are subject to approval by the Annual General Meeting of Shareholders.

2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

2.1 Basis of presentation of the Annual Financial Statements

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Greek Accounting Standards, relevant arrangements and other provisions" ("Greek GAAP") as introduced by Law 4308/2014.

The financial statements have been prepared under the principles of historical cost and of going concern.

The financial statements are presented in Euro, which is the Company's functional currency.

The Company in accordance with article 2 of L.4308/2014 is categorized as medium size entity.

The Company has prepared its financial statements in full compliance with the new Greek GAAP as they are applied for the accounting periods beginning on or after 1 January, 2015, including the comparative period data for the period ended 31 March 2018, as described in the accounting policies. There was no deviation from the provisions of law 4308/2014 as regards the requirement of paragraph 2 of Article 16, concerning the fair presentation of the financial statements.

2.2 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES AND ESTIMATES

The preparation of financial statements requires the use of significant accounting estimates, assumptions and judgments by the Management which affect the balances of assets and liabilities and the disclosures, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as well as the reported income and expenses. It is noted that the actual results might differ from these estimates.

The significant accounting policies applied in the preparation of these financial statements are summarized below:

2.2.1 Tangible assets

Initial recognition

Upon the initial recognition, the assets are measured based on acquisition cost. This cost includes also their improvement costs. Repairs and maintenance expenditures are capitalized when they fall under the definition of an asset (eg increase the useful life of the asset or enhance its production capacity), otherwise are recognized as an expense in the period in which they incur.

Subsequent measurement

Subsequently to their initial recognition assets are measured in their depreciated cost (acquisition cost less accumulated depreciation and any impairment in value).

The Company's tangible assets include furniture and other equipment. The depreciation is accounted by using the straight line method over their useful life. The following table presents the estimated useful life of the Company's tangible assets.

Furniture and other equipment (including telecommunications equipment)	10 years
Computers	5 years

The depreciation begins when the asset is ready for use as it was intended.

The useful lives, the residual values and the methods of depreciation for tangible assets are reviewed annually at each reporting date and they are adjusted in future periods, if necessary.

Derecognition

Tangible assets, , are derecognized upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Any gain or loss arising on de-recognition of the asset (calculated as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset) is included in the income statement when the asset is derecognized.

2.2.2 Leases

The determination of whether an arrangement contains or not a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the inception date, i.e. whether there is an agreement in which the lessor transfers to the lessee the right to use an asset for an agreed period.

2.2.2.1. Financial leases

An asset held by an entity (lessee) under a finance lease is recognized as asset at the acquisition cost that would have incurred if it was purchased and as an equivalent liability to the lessor. The accounting treatment of these assets, subsequent to their initial recognition, is the same with that of owned assets. On the other hand, a liability is recognized from the lessor. The accounting treatment of the finance lease obligation is the same with the treatment of a loan. The lease is split into capital payment which reduces the liability and interest which is recognized as interest expense.

The Company does not have finance leases.

2.2.2.2. Operating leases

The Company as a lessee

In cases of assets leased from third parties where the Company does not undertake all the risks and rewards of asset ownership. These leases are treated as operating leases and the respective lease payments are recognized as expenses using the straight-line method throughout the lease period unless another systematic method is more representative for the allocation of the expense over the lease period.

The Company rents offices which are considered as operating leases. Lease payments are presented in other expenses and losses.

There are no cases where the Company is the lessor.

2.2.3 Financial assets

Financial assets are presented in the Statement of Financial Position as non-current or current assets, depending on the Management's intentions and the contractual or estimated time of settlement.

All financial assets are initially recognized at acquired cost, with subsequent measurement at cost less impairment losses.

In particular, following the initial recognition, interest bearing financial assets are measured at amortized cost using the effective interest rate method or the straight method, over the acquisition cost less impairment losses, if the method of the amortized cost affects significantly the amounts included in the financial statements.

Under Financial Assets classified the Trade and Other Receivables and Cash and Cash Equivalents. Trade and other receivables are interest free. For further information on receivables, see notes 8 and 9.

Financial assets are reviewed impairment if there are such indications.

De-recognition

The entity derecognizes (removes from Balance Sheet) a financial asset when:

- The contractual rights on the cash flows of the Financial Asset expire, or
- It transfers substantially all the risks and benefits that arise from the ownership of the asset.

Impairment

Any financial asset is subject to an impairment test when there are indications mentioned in paragraph 5 of article 19 of L.4308/2014.

An impairment loss is recognized when the carrying amount of the asset is greater than its recoverable amount. In particular, impairment losses for non-current financial assets are recognized when it is estimated that the impairment will be permanent. If impairment is considered temporary, impairment is not recognized.

Impairment indications exist if:

- There are obvious, severe financial difficulties on behalf of the issuer or the liable person of the financial assets or
- The accounting value is considerably higher than the fair value of these assets (when there is a fair value) or
- Adverse local, national or international conditions significantly increase the possibility of a breach of the fundamental obligations resulting from the financial assets.

Impairment losses are recognized in the income statement and are reversed to gains, when their causes cease to exist. The reversal is limited to the asset's value, had it not recognized an impairment loss.

Trade receivables are the amounts due from customers for the services provided to them.

The Company assesses its receivables at the end of each Financial Year in order to determine any need for bad debt provisions.

Financial liabilities

Initial Recognition

Financial liabilities are initially recognized at their outstanding amount. Amounts related to a premium or discount version, as well as the cost directly linked to the obligations undertaken are treated as expenses or income for the liabilities' period of initial recognition.

Subsequent Measurement

Following the initial recognition, the financial liabilities are measured on their outstanding amounts

Alternatively, financial liabilities are initially recognized and subsequently measured at their amortized cost using the effective interest method or the straight line method, if measurement with the rule under this paragraph affects significantly the amounts on the financial statements. In particular, using the amortized cost method (effective interest method or the straight line method), amounts related to a premium or discount issuance, as well as the cost directly related to the liabilities that are gradually amortized.

Interest from financial liabilities, is recognized as an expense in the Income Statement.

Derecognition

The Company derecognizes wholly or partially a financial liability when the contractual obligations stemming from the liability are met, canceled or expired.

The amendment of the terms of an existing financial liability (whether this was the result of financial difficulties of the debtor or not) is treated as a settlement of the original and a recognition of a new liability.

The Company's Financial Liabilities refer to trade payables and other liabilities, which are interest free. For more information on trade and other liabilities of the company, see Note 14.

2.2.4 Current and deferred tax

Current tax

The receivables and payables for income tax for the current period are measured at the amount expected to be recovered or paid to the tax authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used for the calculation are those amounts are those that are enacted or substantially enacted up to the date of Financial Statements in the country where the Company operates and generates taxable income.

Provision for income tax for the current financial year as well as for prior periods are measured based on the amounts expected to be paid to Tax Authorities, using the enacted tax rates at the Balance Sheet date.

The income tax provision includes the current income tax for each fiscal year as derived from the income tax declaration form and the estimated additional taxes that might arise in future tax audits of unaudited fiscal years, based on findings of previous tax audits. Therefore, the income tax finalized by tax authorities may differ from the amounts recorded in the Financial Statements.

Deferred tax

The company uses the option provided by L.4308/2014 and does not recognize deferred income tax in the Financial Statements.

2.2.5 Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and Cash Equivalents includes bank deposits.

2.2.6 Non-financial liabilities

Non-financial liabilities are initially recognized and subsequently measured at the nominal amount expected to be received upon their settlement.

2.2.7 Provisions and contingent liabilities

Provisions are initially recognized and subsequently measured at the estimated nominal amount that may be required for their settlement. This amount is determined as the best estimate of the amount that will be required for the relevant liability.

The Company discloses in the financial statements the contingent liabilities (note 22) defined as:

1. A potential commitment arises from past events, whose existence will be confirmed only upon the occurrence or not of one or more uncertain future events, which are not under the full control of the entity.
2. A present commitment that arises from past events for which:
 - 2a) is not highly probable that an outflow of resources that are incorporating economic benefits for settlement will be required, or
 - 2b) the amount of commitment cannot be measured reliably.

2.2.8 Employee benefits

2.2.8.1 Defined Contribution plan

The Company has a defined pension contribution plan providing retirement benefits to its employees, with an insurance company. Each employee may contribute from 1% until 15% of the monthly salary and respectively 1% is contributed by the Company. Consequently, the Company has no legal or deemed obligation to pay future benefits based on this program. Such obligations are recognized as expense when accrued and any unpaid amount is recorded as a liability.

2.2.8.2 Provision for staff leaving indemnities

According to Law 2112/20 and Law 4093/2012, the Company shall disburse compensation in the event of employees' retirement. The amount of the relevant indemnities depends on the years of employment and the level of remuneration. The program is considered as a program of defined benefit plan. The Company makes a provision based on actuarial valuation for staff leaving indemnities by using the Projected Unit Method.

Liabilities for indemnities are calculated on the discounted value of future benefits that have been accumulated at the end of the year, based on the recognition of worker's entitlement to benefits during the expected working life.

Net indemnities costs of the period are recognized in the Income Statement and consist of the present value of benefits incurred during the financial year, the interest on the benefit obligation and the past service cost. For the discounting the "Projected Unit Credit" is used. More details are included in Note 13.

Actuarial gains and losses arising from adjustments based on the historical data are recorded in the Income Statement.

2.2.9 Share capital

The ordinary shares are recognized as components of equity. Costs directly attributable to a component of equity are recognized as a deduction from equity, if it is significant for the financial statements. Otherwise the amount is recognized as an expense in the respective period.

2.2.10 Conversion into foreign currency

Items included in the Financial Statements are valued in the currency in which the Company operates, which is the Euro.

A transaction in foreign currency is converted upon initial recognition in the currency in which the financial statements of the entity are prepared based on the current exchange rate on the date of the transaction. Exchange differences arising from the settlement of foreign currency transactions and from the translation of the monetary items are recognized in the income statement.

2.2.11 Revenues

Revenue is recognized when it is exceedingly probable that the economic benefit of the transaction will inflow to the Company and the respective revenue can be reliably measured. Revenue is recognized specifically as follows:

Revenue from the sale of goods is recognized when the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have passed to the buyer, usually on delivery of the goods and to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and can be reliably measured

The company has two main revenue categories. These categories are divided according to the offering services type in Consulting Services and Support Services. In the first category revenue is recognized in accordance with the completion percentage of ongoing projects. In relation to the second category, revenue is recognized over the total services provision period of the corresponding fiscal year.

Interest income is time proportioned, using the effective interest method or the straight-line method.

Revenue is measured net of any discounts or sales taxes. Net revenue of the company is analyzed in Note 3.

Profits from measurement of assets and liabilities, including profits from reversals of provisions and impairment losses are recognized on the basis of estimates by element category.

Profits arising from the de-recognition of assets or liabilities are recognized when the assets or liabilities are eliminated from the financial statements.

3. REVENUE

The Company's revenue is analyzed as follows:

	31.03.2019	31.03.2018
Revenue from services (Intercompany)	2,714,721.65	5,624,617.73

Accrued income from contracts with customers	894,648.41	715,360.36
Total	894,648.41	1,096,357.32

The reduction in the recharge of employee expenses figure compared to prior year is associated to the change in the Intercompany agreement between the Company and Oracle Financial Services Software BV effective April 1 2018 (see note 21).

21. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Related party transactions relate to transactions with the Oracle Group of companies. All transactions are executed under market terms. The main transactions regarding the revenue from related parties, concern invoicing Oracle Hellas SMLLC for projects where the company's resources were utilized and the agreement was signed between the client and Oracle Hellas SMLLC. The Company's transactions regarding expenses, are mainly associated with invoicing from the parent company under the respective intercompany agreement. From April 2018 onwards, the Distribution and Services Agreements (DSA) between the parent company (Oracle Financial Services Software BV) and its subsidiaries have been amended to streamline the accounting without modifying the substance of the arrangement existing between, and functions assigned to, each of the contracting entities. In this respect, there are no revenues from expense recharges unless any exceptional items are authorized by the parent entity while at the same time the applicable TP rates, on third party as well as Oracle Hellas SMLLC revenue, for the calculation of the respective charges invoiced by the parent entity, are reduced.

Transactions with related parties for the year end 31.03.2019 and 31.03.2018 are analyzed as follows:

22. CONTINGENT LIABILITIES

i) Future operating leases (as lessee):

The minimum future leases payments of operating leases are as follows:

	31.03.2019	31.03.2018
Payable
Up to 1 year	198,090.48	198,090.48
From 2 up to 5 years	165,075.40	363,165.88
Above 5 years	-	-
Total	363,165.88	561,256.36

ii) Letters of guarantee - Other guarantees

There are no letters of guarantee - Other guarantees in the current year.

iii) Unaudited tax years

For the fiscal year of 2011 (the 1st application for the Company was for the 31.03.2012 year-end) and onwards, the Greek Societe Anonyme and the Limited Liability Companies, whose annual Financial statements are audited by a statutory auditor or an audit firm under the provisions of Law. 2190/1920 and Law. 3190/1955 respectively, are required to obtain an "Annual Certificate" as provided by Article 65a of Law N.4172 / 2013 which is issued after a specific tax audit conducted by the same statutory auditor or audit firm that audits the annual Financial statements. For the fiscal years ended 31.12.2016 and onwards (including the current audited fiscal year for the Company) the specific tax audit considered optional and the Company chose not to perform such a tax audit.

The tax compliance certificate audit with respect to the fiscal years ended 31.03.2012, 31.03.2013, 31.03.2014, 31.03.2015 and 31.03.2016 was conducted by the auditors of the Company, in accordance with the provisions of §5 of Article 82 of L.2238 / 1994 and Article 65a of Law. 4174/2013. The audit did not reveal significant tax liabilities except from the ones which are presented in the Financial Statements.

The Company is yet to be audited for the fiscal years ended 31.03.2017, 31.03.2018 and 31.03.2019 and consequently its tax liabilities for these fiscal years have not been finalized.

According to Circular 1006 / 05.01.2016 companies for which a Tax Compliance Report has been issued with unqualified opinion, with respect to tax law violations, are not exempted from an ordinary tax audit from the tax authorities. Therefore, the tax authorities may also carry out their own tax audit. The Company's management anticipates that the results of such future audits by tax authorities, will not significantly affect the Company's financial position.

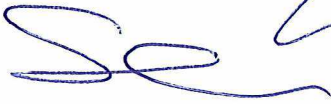

It should also be noted that under the 5 year time barring restriction rule, the decisions of the Council of State (1738/2017 and 2934/2017) as well as the relevant directive issued by the tax administration for the prioritization of tax audits (B 1136035 - 2017 and 1154/2017), the company considers that the tax authority's right to charge additional taxes for the fiscal years ended up to 31.03.2013 has lapsed.

23. EVENTS AFTER THE REPORTING PERIOD

There were no events after 31 March 2019, with a significant impact on understanding these Financial Statements, which should either be disclosed or amend the figures of the published Financial Statements.
